THE CROW HOUSE.

Opposite the Courthouse
HARTFORD, KY.

JOHN S. VAUGHT, . . . PROPRIETOR.
Comfortable rooms, prompt attention, and low prices. The traveling public are respectfully invited to give us a share of patronage.
Every exertion made to render guests comfortable.

STAGE LINE.

Mr. Vaught will continue the stage twice a day between Hartford and Beaver Dam, morning and evening, connecting with all passenger trains on the L. P. & S. Western railroad. Passengers set down wherever they desire.

Circuit court commenced Monday.

Moore & Wise want wheat at $1.20 per bushel.

Corn planting is the "national game" with our farmers at this writing.

Best of Prints for eight and nine cents per yard, at E. SMALL'S.

From every part of the county we hear the cheering news that "the wheat is all right."

Hon. George W. Williams, of Owensboro, one of the leading legal intellects of the State, is attending our circuit court.

There are 140 commonwealth's cases on the docket of the circuit court, mostly for minor offenses. There are not to exceed half a dozen felony cases.

The grand jury yesterday returned indictments against H. F. Stratton, for horse-stealing; Jeff Allen, for grand larceny, and Ad. Cannon, of color, for shooting with intent to kill.

At the residence of Mr. Joseph Vaught, in this place, on Thursday morning last, Mr. James Tinsley, of Rockport, and Miss Emma Houston, of Hartford, were united in matrimony.

Ladies' Cloth Shoes for one dollar and twenty-five cents a pair, at E. SMALL'S.

Dr. H. Baldwin, of Elizabethtown, Ky., has taken rooms at the Crow House. He will remain during the week. Those needing any kind of work in the dentistry line will do well to call on him once.
Remember, he is one of the best dentists in the State and guarantees all his work.

A pleasant time was had by those who attended the picnic on Friday last, in the beautiful grove opposite the water-mill. We regret that circumstances were such that we could not attend.

Take your wheat to MOORE & WISE.

We regret that stress of business forces our lively Rockport correspondent, "P.
R.," to discontinue reporting the transactions of that go-ahead little town for our paper. We have been fortunate enough, however, to procure a substitute, who, under the nom de plume of "Nihil Nemin," will continue to keep our readers posted in Rockport affairs.

Marriage Licenses.

The following is a list of the marriage licenses issued for the week ending May 8, 1875.
Thomas H. Bean and Miss Amanda Z.
Duke.
Judge James Tinsley and Miss Emma Houston.
John C. Iglehart and Miss Mary E.
Tichenor.

Good Men's Brogans for one dollar a pair, at E. SMALL'S.

Another Jail Bird.

Ad. Cannon, of color, who had been arrested on a charge of shooting with intent to kill, and held by the examining court to answer the charge at the present session of the circuit court, was surrendered by his bail on Monday, and lodged in jail.
He would not be likely to escape if he should get out, as he has a wooden leg, and don't make very fast time.

Farm House Destroyed by Fire.

During the heavy wind storm of the 1st instant, the dwelling of Hiram McMillan, farmer, residing near Centerville, in this county, caught fire and was quickly reduced to ashes, together with nearly all its contents, the gale fanning the flames beyond all control. Mr. McMillan is a poor man, we understand, and the loss comprised about his all.

County Templars' Convention.

The Ohio County Convention of the Independent Order of Good Templars will meet with Taylor Lodge No. 8, at the schoolhouse near Green River, about half way between Rochester and Paradise, on the Friday and Saturday preceding the 2nd Sunday in next month (June). On the invitation of Taylor Lodge, Mr. Gruelle will deliver a public address at the same place on the 2nd Sunday in June. We are requested to invite every Lodge in the county to send full delegations to the convention, as ample arrangements have been made to handsomely entertain all who may attend.

The Naked Truth.

A dollar saved is a dollar made. L.
Rosenberg & Bro., intend to demonstrate the truth of this to all who want to save the dollar, and who will visit their establishment for the purpose of learning how it is done. They have received and opened the largest and the best goods ever brought to this market; and as they brought low for cash, they do not intend to suffer themselves to be undersold by any house in the Green River country. All they ask is a comparison of their goods and prices with those of "any other man." No trouble to show goods and answer questions.

Another Fine Fleece.

We recently made fine of the fleece of Mr. W. D. Coleman, which we pronounced magnificent. On Monday Mr.
William Foster, residing near No Creek Church, some two and a half miles from town, visited our office and brought us specimens of wool he had sheared from thirteen head of Cotswold sheep. One of them was a lamb, whose fleece weighed 12 pounds. With one exception the sheep were all young, and the aggregated fleece weighed 102 pounds. Mr. Foster is recognized as the most successful sheep breeder in this section, and his flocks always bear off the blue ribbon from the county fairs.

Curtis Bell, a "smoked Yankee," was tried yesterday for carrying a concealed deadly weapon, convicted, fined twenty-five dollars, and sentenced to ten days imprisonment. He was delivered to the jailer and lodged in jail.

Transfers of Real Estate.

The following are the only real estate transfers lodged for record during the week ending May 8, 1875.
Frank Allen to Eli B. Allen, 130 acres of land in District No. 1, $636 20.
Dallas D. Austin to H. B. Taylor, interests in tracts of land near Beaver Dam, $110 00.

Heavy Wind Storm.

Between four and six o'clock Sunday evening this section of country was visited by the severest wind and rain storm it has experienced for many years. Much damage was done to fences, barns, stables and other outbuildings. It was particularly severe in the vicinity of Liberty Church, where the beautiful grove belonging to John W. Taylor was almost entirely leveled with the earth. His loss in timber alone will reach the neighborhood of $400. Mr. Stevens, a neighbor, had his barn and stables destroyed. Nearly everybody had their fencing scattered all over creation. The path of the storm was about half a mile in width. We hear of no loss of life so far. One horse was crippled by a falling stable, but we cannot recall the owner's name.

Our Circuit Court.

Began its session on Monday last, and will continue four weeks. The grand jury is composed of the most solid and substantial citizens of the county, and will no doubt discharge their duties faithfully, and prove themselves a terror to law-breakers and evil doers.

The following is a list of the grand jury as impaneled:

W. D. Coleman, George W. Clements, Thomas Marlow, Martin Coleman, J. S.
Parr, S. S. Bender, Arch. Patterson, Dr.
Thos. Masie, J. C. Beah, Charles Hocker, Geo. A. Brown, J. C. Tuma, J. B.
Sutton, B. T. Iglehart, and Geo. Barnes.

Judge Stuart's charge to them was very clear and explicit, so they cannot help but understand their duty. He directed them to indict any one who was wanted as a witness before them and was evading or disobeying a summons. The attendance on the court, so far, has been very large.

The following lawyers from other counties are and have been in attendance: Judge Geo. W. Williams and W. H.
Griffith, of Owensboro; Willie H. Wand, of Morgantown; D. H. French, of Lagrange.

Hon. Jos. Haycraft reached here Monday evening, up to which time but little had been done, except to organize; but on yesterday business began in earnest.

The docket is crowded, and it is very uncertain whether it can be gone through with this term.

"THE LOST MERCHANT."

He Bears the Caneyville Lion in His Den, and Hits Juno a Spat or Two.

BEAVER DAM, KY., May 11.
MR. EDITOR.—Mr. J. T. N.'s kindness was highly appreciated in warning me to be careful about visiting Caneyville, but believing that he was only jesting, and would not wage war on one so much his senior, I concluded the other day to go up and give him a trial.

Well, I went, and on arriving found quite a number of my friends, who bestowed a welcome smile and extended a friendly greeting. I felt better immediately, and wended my way to the house of Dr.
Braunton, that clever and polite gentleman, who knows how to entertain his guests, and whose wife is one of the noblest of women.

The short time passed in the city was one of pleasure. 'Tis a delightful place to visit, for all kind and seem to love one another. With feelings of the greatest kindness, I can only ask of the youthful gentleman to "paddle his own canoe," for I hope often to be there.

Well, when I returned, I noticed that Juno was endeavoring to give publicity to the world that I had gone again. I think he is the best reporter you have, for, if he has nothing to write, he will write anyhow. Is it any of his, or any other person's, business where I go? If I were a-mined to, I could give you some idea of his behavior, but he is young, and of limited experience, and I don't like to expose him. I'll only mention the fact that for two long weeks he has, with a double-barreled shotgun, jealously guarded the road to waylay a Lone Star man, whom he heard was on his way to see his (Juno's) sweetheart. All the harm I wish him is that he may catch the measles. And then again, how in the world could his vision be so strong as to see me at this place the Sunday afternoon that I took the remarkable drive from your town, he being at the same time seated by the side of one of Hartford's charming young ladies, to whom he was playing the devoted?

This is a progressive age, and my opinion is that June progresses remarkably well for one of his age. For his information, I will say that the crops about Caneyville are in a prosperous condition, and everything grows so well there that, as soon as possible, I intend to purchase a farm and go to farming, and when you come up, Mr. Editor, I'll convince you that it is a very desirable location, and, besides, show you some beautiful girls.

For fear of intruding too much upon your valuable space, I will close with my well-wishes for your prosperity, AMICUS.

Mrs. Vaught, of the Crow House, again placed us under obligations last night for a fine lunch.

A Righteous Deed—A Father Kills the Seducer of His Daughter.

For several weeks past our neighboring county of Meade has been agitated by a scandalous case, which culminated on Sunday last in a bloody tragedy, wherein a young and recently married man paid the penalty of his life for the deed of a beast. The particulars of the affair as we gather them are as follows:

Sometime in last August there was a picnic held in that county, which was attended, among others of the young people, by a young and beautiful girl of sixteen or seventeen summers, the daughter of Mr. Green Parr, a respectable and well-to-do farmer, who was escorted to the picnic grounds, which were several miles from her home, by a young gentleman, who left her there in the evening—it being her intention to pass the night with a young lady friend in the neighborhood—with the understanding that he was to return next day and take her back home.— When she was ready to repair to the home where she was to spend the night, Ben.
Elder, a young man who had formerly paid her some attention, proffered to take her there in his buggy, an offer she unfortunately accepted, for on the way the villain accomplished her ruin.

Recently the effects of his base conduct began to become too apparent. Her parents, unsuspecting of the woful truth, at first called in a root doctor of the neighborhood, who pronounced her afflicted with "droupy of the stomach." Fearing to trust her case in his hand, they sent her off for treatment to a regular practitioner in whose knowledge and skill they had unbounded confidence. A very slight examination of the patient revealed to him the true state of the case. When told that she would soon become a mother, the poor girl's grief and shame were so excessive that serious fears were at first entertained for her reason. When she became sufficiently composed to tell the story of her undoing, it was the same as we have substantially related above.

In the meantime, and but a short while after having accomplished the ruin of Miss Parr, young Elder married into a highly respectable family across the river in Indiana, and was living with his wife's parents at time his villainy towards Miss Parr transpired. When the truth was revealed to the ruined girl's family, the first feeling that entered the breasts of the father and son was that of revenge. The latter sought the vile seducer at his new home in Indiana for the purpose of executing summary justice upon the destroyer of his sister. For two weeks the young Parrs kept fruitless watch for him on the Indiana side. It subsequently transpired that he had returned to Kentucky and gone into concealment among his relatives.

A hint of this reached the ears of the elder Parr on Saturday night, and Sunday morning, arming himself and with despairate purpose in his heart, the old man set out to hunt down the villainous seducer.
As luck would have it, he met the scoundrel on the highway. What passed between them no one save Green Parr and an approving God knows. All the world will probably ever know is that the wronged father shot down the heavily wretched who had wrought dishonor to his house—shot him down like a dog. It was a righteous deed, and will be applauded by every man who reveres virtue in woman and abhors vice in man.

OUR ROCKPORT LETTER.

Rockport, Ky. May 10.

Owing to a temporary suspension of operations in the stove factory here, Rockport is not so lively as formerly.
Still it is improving more rapidly than any place in my knowledge.

It is destined to be one of the first business places in the Green River region. The inexhaustible supplies of timber, suitable to all manufacturing purposes, the abundant coal, its facilities for receiving and shipping, render this its manifest destiny. We have already a stove factory, which will soon be again in full blast, and there is now in course of erection a foundry. I understand that a company contemplate building here an extensive flouring mill. We want a cooper's shop, a wagon factory, and a hub and spoke manufactory.

We have a brand new doctor in our town, in the person of V. M. Taylor, M.
D. He is a gentleman of easy manners, and is well read in his profession. May his sojourn among us be useful and prosperous.

I saw our "Big Judge" in Hartford last week. If he did not divide himself out, I fear a famine in your midst before circuit court is over.

I visited your lodge, and was rejoiced to find it prosperous. Judge Tinsley, of our town, bore off one of your fairest ladies, and if Billy P., Elijah W., and others of the O. B. society, don't take warning, and be up and doing, they will be doomed to wear buttons made of four penny nails and wooden pegs while time shall last with them, for we have several eligible young men as enterprising as the Judge.

Respectfully,
NIRIEL NEMINI.

RESOLUTIONS.

Adopted by the Grayson County Temperance Convention, held at Caneyville, Ky., May 5th, 1875.

We, the members and representatives of this convention, in view of the enormities of the liquor traffic, regard our public and private happiness allied to the great Temperance reform. Therefore be it resolved,

1.—That it is the duty of all members of our order to work most faithfully for the culmination of our grand object, viz., the suppression of the liquor traffic.

2.—That we recommend a test of Local Option when and where it is deemed expedient.

3.—That it shall be the duty of every Good Templar to use every honorable means for the adoption of Local Option.

4.—That it is the sense of this convention that it is a violation of our obligation to vote for or in any way advocate the continuance of the liquor traffic.

5.—That we recommend the Riverside Weekly to all, and hope the membership will do all in their power for the advancement of its circulation; as we recognize in it the power of greatly advancing our cause where properly circulated and read.

6.—That we advise members to visit sister Lodges of our county, believing that this would give great encouragement to their progress.

7.—That it behooves members of our Order to fully carry out that section of our obligation pertaining to the fraternal treatment of all members of our Order.

8.—That the thanks of this convention be and are hereby tendered to the sisters of this community for their kind hospitality, so bountifully bestowed upon us to-day.

9.—That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Riverside Weekly and Grayson County Herald, also one to THE HARTFORD HERALD, with the request for publication.
H. C. BUTLER, Pres.
J. L. NEAL, Sec'y.

BEAVER DAM ITEMS.

BEAVER DAM, KY., May 11.

We have had so much wind and rain for the past few days, that all the news has been entirely blown or washed out of town. The farmers have taken advantage of every sunshiny hour, and planted corn as fast as possible.

The terrific winds, accompanied by roaring thunder and flashes of lightning, on Saturday night, roused many a sweet sleeper from their pillows. Some said they thought the end of the world near at hand, and expected every moment to be the last. I am glad they were mistaken, for so many of us are unprepared.

A still more destructive wind visited this portion of the county Sunday afternoon and night. Nearly all the fencing for miles was blown down, leaving the wheat, corn, grass and oak fields open to the hogs and cattle. This looks hard on the farmers, but "He doeth all things in wisdom."

On Sunday afternoon, one young gentleman sauntering leisurely along, dressed in Broadway style, had his "plug" lifted from his head and borne by the breeze to a little stream not far distant, and it is now probably sailing o'er the beautiful Ohio. The rain by this time descending, he hoisted his umbrella to preserve the gloss on those new clothes, but the wind, taking a good hold on it, he was carried some distance, reminding us of the time that Hay's jack had an umbrella attached to his tail.

Our nursery men tell us that notwithstanding the recent hard freeze, we will have a considerable amount of fruit this year.

The many friends of Mrs. John Barnes will be glad to know that she has recovered from her severe hemorrhage attack of a few days since. Though in a weak condition, we trust she will yet live to see many summers.

Our merchants had quite a rush of business on Saturday last, every one buying new goods for Sunday. A fair business was done during the week.

Judging from the countenances of our delegates to the convention, at Frankfort, we should think that Sorghum did not receive the nomination for Governor.

Juno.

FROM CANEYVILLE.

CANEYVILLE, KY., May 10.

At last beautiful and balmy spring has put in her appearance, and our farmers welcome her with joy. Corn is being planted rapidly in this section, and though late as the spring is, a good crop is expected in this vicinity.

The trial of Peter Davison and Charles Carroll, for breaking into the depot at this place in the winter, did not come before the court at Litchfield, as we expected, but was put off until the October term of the Grayson Circuit Court, on account of three of the Commonwealth's witnesses not being present.

Our croquet lawn has again been reopened, and the club has purchased a new net. The young gentlemen and ladies of this place seem to enjoy themselves to the fullest extent while engaged in the exercise.

We notice that the card of ex-constable Brown is still being published in the Grayson County Herald. We don't know, but suppose he is offering himself for the office at the May election of 1877.

The election in this district last Saturday was a very exciting one; in fact, more so than we ever witnessed before. Brown and Milligan being the cause. Brown ran ahead until about five o'clock in the evening, when they tied, and the contest then began in earnest. But at the close of the polls, they showed Milligan had two majority. J. N. Eskridge and Chas.
P. Cain were elected justices of the peace, and greatly to our disappointment, Local Option was defeated 44 votes.

We are informed that Weaver, otherwise the Lost Merchant of Beaver Dam, was in town last Tuesday, looking for his correspondent, with four pistols and other necessary equipments for a small battle. Now, the cause of the old gentleman hunting for us in this manner is something we cannot fathom, for we have done nothing but give him some good advice, so he could be on his guard if he wished to risk his hide in this place.

SAVE YOUR EYES.

PEBBLE SPECTACLES
And Eye Glasses are the best for failing sight. Cut and polished from the "Real Stone," they are perfectly transparent (will cut glass like a diamond). Being harder than the glass, they receive a finer polish and always retain it. One pair carefully suited to your eyes will last as long as five pairs of the best glass. Besides preserving the sight almost unimpaired all that time. By our new system for testing the sight, we are enabled to suit any eye so accurately that no injurious effects will follow. We repair Spectacles and Eye Glasses, and insert Pebbles or the best Glass Lenses in soft frames. Our Bi-Focal Spectacles are for old people who require spectacles to see far off as well as near by only one pair being required. To persons who can not call on us we send our new illustrated Price List which shows how to order.<
